Why teaching?

My love of teaching lies in the challenge and joy that comes from inspiring children and teachers to develop a love of learning, discover their strengths, pursue their dreams and be the best they can possibly be.

I feel privileged to be able to share my passion for teaching & learning every day with students and staff. Providing quality educational experiences for all members of our school community in a creative, innovative and supportive environment is at the heart of every decision I make as a teacher and a principal.

Fostering a lasting love of learning

Balgowlah North Public School is a co-educational public primary school situated in the Northern Beaches area of suburban Sydney. Since becoming Principal of Balgowlah North Public School in 2006, Vicki Treble has proven to be an inspiring and dynamic educator. Her vision and enthusiasm for the school has brought out the best in both teachers and students.

Vicki believes in lifelong learning and she actively encourages teachers at Balgowlah North to gain professional development across all areas of the educational spectrum. Workshops are conducted both on and off campus, and these help to build quality teaching outcomes and create a cohesive teaching team. Vicki proudly celebrates teacher excellence through regular acknowledgements at assemblies, in the local media, and through the school's World Teachers' Day assembly and luncheon.

Vicki has facilitated the introduction of interactive whiteboards into the school's classrooms. A variety of new technologies are used to help engage students and cater for the different learning styles. Balgowlah North Public School is now recognised as being at the forefront of technological education in New South Wales.

Vicki has initiated partnerships with surrounding local primary and secondary schools, and Balgowlah North Public School is now part of a community of schools called the Northern Beaches Learning Alliance. This partnership benefits students in the transition from primary to secondary school, as well as opening up networking and professional learning opportunities for teachers.

A Positive Behaviour for Learning Program has been implemented, encouraging students to understand respect and responsibility to themselves and others. Vicki has also been instrumental in securing grants and supporting fundraising to greatly improve the school's buildings and grounds. Four new classrooms have been constructed, a new verandah, covered outdoor learning areas, gardens and new pathways, as well as sporting and student facilities. A new hall and library are currently under construction at the school.

In only three years as principal, Vicki has introduced substantial new initiatives for the benefit of the whole school community, nurturing the development of teachers and students' learning journeys. Recently recognised for her outstanding leadership with an Australian Award for Excellence in Teaching – Excellence by a Principal, Vicki ensures innovative and dynamic teaching environments where both teachers and students have the opportunity to grow, and to develop a lasting love of learning.
